JOURNEY TO MEXICO. Company of Fifty three Arrive in the hand of Diaz. .

H. F. Johnson sends the following ommunication to the "News:" We left Utah November 12th, 1900, fifty-three of us in all, via R. G. W., D. & R. G., and Santa Fe R. R. We had a very pleasant trip considering the stops we made to feed our stock which was four times, making seventy-two hours in all. We were six days and hours in all. We were six days and nine hours on the road after leaving Springville. We arrived in El Paso in a heavy rainstorm which lasted about 24 hours, yet we lost no time in applying for admission into Mexico, but found that not one of us had a permit to enter that country. We then telegraphed to the City of Mexico for permits to land in which the broker said was graphed. After setting our things was granted. After getting our things listed we found that only part of us had permits. Mr. Sharr and some of the other boys that came with him got permits instead of all of us. Four of each crowd are here still waiting for permits. S. S. Huish, not getting a permit listed his with Elder Jameson's and pulled out this morning leaving the big part of his crowd behind. We have all sent our families to Colonia Dublan, which will lessen our expenses very much. I would advise parties coming to Mexico (with large outfits as have with us) to be sure that their papers are at the custom house before leaving Utah, otherwise they will find it very expensive living here and feeding horses and stock. I think a man will save money if he will come empty handed and buy his outfit at the colonies and thus avoid waiting for his preserve.

MISS LANGAM A BARONESS. Former Salt Lake Girl Weds a German Nobleman.

The following story from the Denver Post tells of the marriage of Lillian May Laugham, to the Baron von Sternbery at London. The more than ordinary interest that attaches to it is the fact that the bride is a former Salt Lake girl, and fived at the Continental Hotel with her mother and sisters. There are many who remember her as she used to romp through the corridors of the hotel.

It appears that Denver also claims the bride, judging from the following: "Notwithstanding the blandishments of the other women aboard, from ! La very first he seemd to have eyes lor one but the pale little American girl who sat so patiently all day long in her steamer chair. He seemed to be always finding something to do for her and something to keep him near her He read to her aloud in his deep German basso voice; he brought her stools for her feet, cushions for her head dainties to tempt her appetite and all the devotion of a warm German heart. "The girl was touched by his gentle attentions, but she could not bulleve at they were prompted by any feel ings other than sympathy and pity. She had long given up, or, perhaps, she had never cherished any dream of love, and she could not believe that any one would care to marry her.

The voyage ended and the Baron ollowed Miss Langham to Paris, there in less than two months he told of his love. At first she could no eve him, and then she refused him bind himself to her-a cripple-life. He besought her not to banish him and at last she yielded and prom-ised to be his wife.

Preparations began at once for the iding, which the Baron vowed be an elaborate one.

FOUND IN A "DUGOUT."

Fred Blake Escaped from the Asylum at Prove.

Fred Blake, a lunatic, who made his escape from the asylum at Provo on Thursday last, was captured at an early hour this morning by Patroiman Joe Pugsley in City Creek canyon. The man by the aid of a shovel and ax had fixed for himself a novel "dugout." He dug a large hole in the side of a hill and covered it over with small limbs of trees, throwing dirt on top of them. He also had a piece of blanket which he was going to use as a protection against the cold weather. The poor fellow was taken back to Provo today and before going expressed a desire to see Judge Zane, as he had been kept in the asylum for fourteen years, and he wanted his freedom again.

After suffering several months, I one day concluded to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and I beg to assure you that I was most agreeably suryou that I was most agreeably prised to find after taking two doses of the remedy that I was completely relieved of the disease that had cost me so much trouble and annoyance. I am thankful to say that I have not suffered from it since.
